ONTARIO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT EXPIRATIONS 1991

91-01824/

FOREWORD

This is the twenty-fourth annual report by the Ontario Ministry of Labour on collective agreement expirations. It describes the extent of collective bargaining activity in Ontario for renewal of agreements scheduled to expire in 1991.

The report, derived from information in the Ministry's Collective Agreements Library as of December 31, 1990, identifies all 1991 bargaining situations known to the Ministry as of that date. It does not include situations that will result from recent or future certifications by the Ontario Labour Relations Board, or new agreements that had not been ratified at the time the report was completed.

The report consists of five tables. Part A of Table 1 shows the total number of all agreements expiring by industry and month of expiration; Part B shows the number of employees who will be affected. Table 2 gives a distribution of the total expirations by industry and size of bargaining unit. Table 3 shows the total number of all agreements expiring and employees involved by union and month of expiration. Table 4 lists those agreements covering 200 or more employees by month of expiration and Table 5 lists them by industry.

Appendix I lists the major agreements (those covering 1,000 or more employees) expiring in 1991. Appendix II explains the SIC (Standard Industrial Classification) used in Tables 4 and 5, and Appendix III defines the occupational group codes.

The report was prepared in the Office of Collective Bargaining Information, Industrial Relations Division, Ontario Ministry of Labour.

ONTARIO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT EXPIRATIONS, 1991

Introduction

Collective bargaining activity in 1991 will be heavier in terms of the number of expiries but lighter in terms of the number of employees affected than the previous year. Some 4,157 agreements, covering 554,618 employees, are scheduled to expire during the year, compared to 3,295 agreements covering 637,460 employees in 1990. (See Tables 1A and 1B.)

The 1991 expiries represent 43% of the 9,618 agreements in the Ministry of Labour's Collective Agreements Library as of December 31, 1990 and affect 38% of the 1,452,155 total Ontario employees covered by agreements.

With respect to the number of employees affected, the upcoming negotiations will be concentrated in education and related services, health and welfare services, transportation, and the federal government. These sectors account for 60% of the total number of employees covered by agreements expiring in 1991.

Besides contract talks involving provincial government employees, the major set of negotiations in the public sector will involve the Ontario Hospital Association and approximately 42,000 nurses represented by the Ontario Nurses' Association. A major set of negotiations in the private sector will take place between Inco and 6,050 employees represented by the United Steel Workers of America. Other major negotiations expected are listed in Appendix I.

Economic Setting

Economic forecasts indicate that bargaining in 1991 will take place in a weak economic environment. The period 1983 to 1988 was characterized by strong growth in Ontario's economy. During this period, the province's economy grew at an average annual rate of 6.1%. The next two years saw slower growth in Ontario's real gross domestic product. In 1989 and 1990, the rates of economic growth were 2.8% and 0.7% respectively. The slowdown in the province's economy is expected to continue in 1991 with an estimated growth rate of 0.5%.

The annual inflation rate, as measured by the Ontario Consumer Price Index, was 4.7% in November, down from its November 1989 rate of 5.8%. The national inflation rate declined slightly from 5.3% in 1989 to 5.0% in 1990.

The national unemployment rate was 9.1% in November, the highest it has been since May 1987 and up from 8.8% in October. Job losses were concentrated primarily in construction and manufacturing, industries which are largely based in Ontario. This has led to an increase in the province's unemployment rate moving from 5.2% in November 1989 to 7.5% a year later.

Under collective agreements covering 200 or more Ontario employees, negotiated wage increases in settlements ratified in the first quarter of 1990 averaged 7.1% per year, declined to 6.5% in the second quarter, and rose to 6.7% in the third.

Pay equity, free trade and the federal goods and services tax will, in all likelihood, continue to have a strong influence on collective bargaining in 1991. Given the current economic climate, job security provisions, including restrictions on layoffs and income protection for laid off workers, are likely to dominate the 1991 round of negotiations.

Monthly Activity

March and December have the largest number of contract expirations in 1991 and account for 43% of the total expirations. However, these two months contain only 30% of the total number of employees scheduled to bargain in 1991. In terms of employees, August is the heaviest month with 121,953 employees covered by 367 agreements. This month's figures include 102,271 employees under 192 agreements in the education and related services sector. August alone represents 22% of the total number of employees affected by bargaining but only 9% of the 1991 expirations. These three months, plus June, account for 59% of the total expirations and 65% of the total number of employees who will be involved in contract renewals in 1991.

Industry Activity

Non-manufacturing sector bargaining will account for 69% of all agreements expiring in 1991 and 77% of the employees covered. The major negotiations will take place in education, health and welfare services, transportation and the federal government. Together, these four industries account for 61% of the 2,867 agreements expiring in the non-manufacturing sector and 78% of the 428,012 employees covered by agreements in this sector. Education and health and welfare services alone represent 51% of the non-manufacturing expirations and 53% of the employees involved.

In the manufacturing sector, key industries in which bargaining will occur include transportation equipment, electrical products, fabricated metals and food and beverage industries. These four groups comprise 40% of manufacturing expirations and 49% of the employees covered by agreements in the manufacturing sector opening up for renewal next year.
